

iLoyal Customer Engagement Suite

Transforming Customer Experience. Engage, Socialize and Gamify

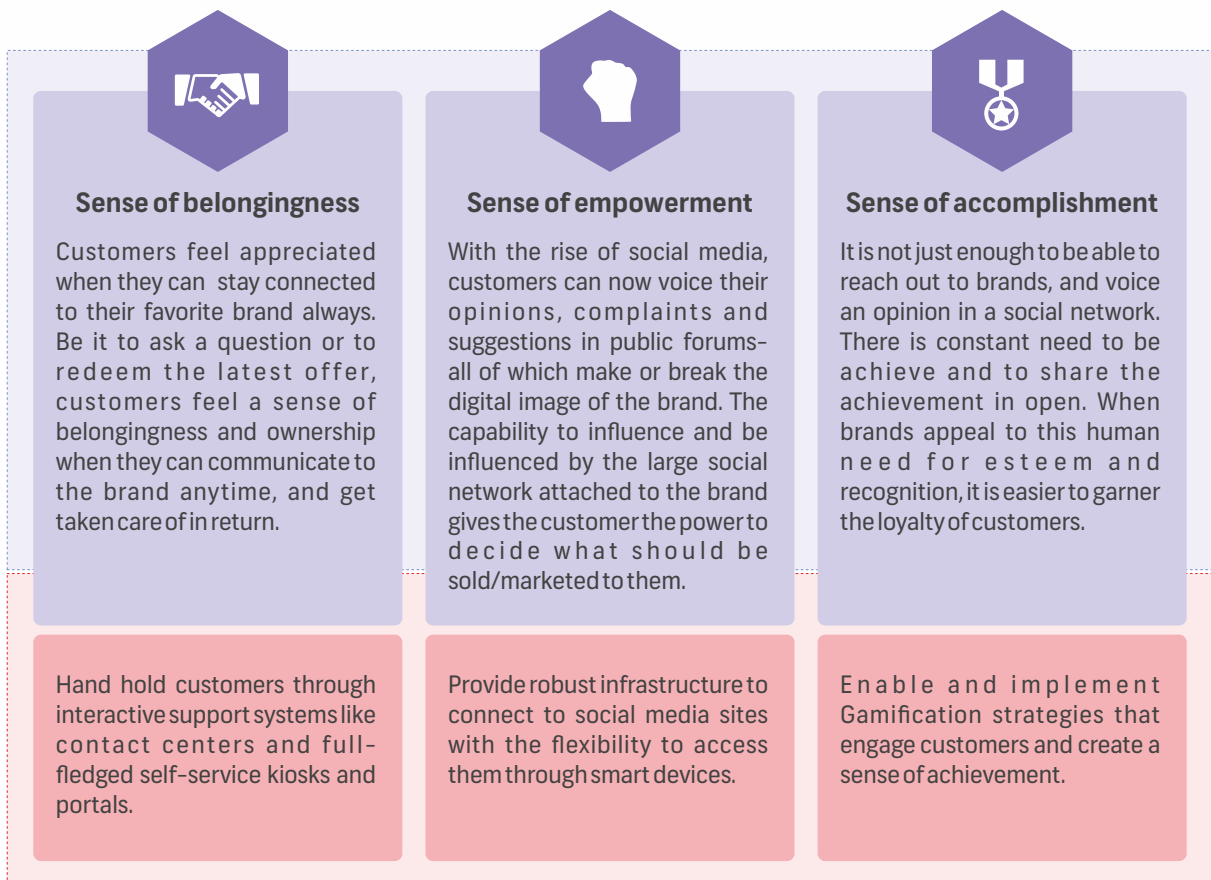

iLoyal Customer Engagement Suite

Forming and maintaining positive, long-term relationships with customers is one of the most important requirements of any business these days. However, customer relationships is no longer a one-sided affair where the customer has to initiate the conversation, but it is all about facilitating an active and passionate community around your product or service where the customer is your brand's ambassador.

To facilitate this kind of community building, brands now need to expand from the isolated concept of "customer service" and stretch themselves to create positive outcomes that include answering questions, solving problems, hearing ideas, supporting them when possible and at the end of it all, drive an engagement that empowers the customer and make them feel accomplished. The capability of a business to manage and implement the engagement process has a direct effect on retention of existing clients and acquiring new prospects. Delivering meaningful engagement and excellent service also significantly impacts your bottom lines.

It is all about facilitating an active and passionate community around your product or service where the customer is your brand ambassador.

The "Happy customer" concept evolves only when the customer's intangible needs are considered.

The iLoyal Customer Engagement Suite enables you to streamline all major areas of customer interactions and provide competitive advantage by seamlessly integrating people and processes in order to engage customers better.

Customer engagement activities can range from responding to product queries to building online strategies to gain customer attention and rewarding customers for their interest and involvement in the brand.

How the iLoyal Customer Engagement Suite works

iLoyal Customer Engagement Suite

The iLoyal Customer Engagement Suite ships with four essential components, that can successfully drive meaningful customer engagements. Though each of these components can stand alone to deliver competent results in their own realms, the combination is powerful to bring in the targeted results of increased bottom lines and brand loyalty.

Customer Data Store

The iLoyal Customer Store is a comprehensive repository that can collect and capture all customer related data to provide a 360 degree view of the customer to the business. It reflects the past, present and future of the customer, thereby enabling the business to build customer personas, which in turn can be used to drive their marketing propositions. Apart from the standard attributes present in the system to collect information, organizations can also build custom-defined attributes to capture data that is very relevant and specific to drive the business' working models.

Contact center management

The Customer Contact Centre Suite provides competitive advantage by seamlessly integrating people and processes to deliver quality responses to customers. With dashboards offering single-point view into all contact centre statistics, the Contact Centre Suite has considerably reduced query response times, thereby exceeding customer expectation with every interaction.

Social Media Connectors

Social media connectors present in the iLoyal Customer Engagement suite provide the capability to connect to your customers through popular social media sites like Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn, Pinterest and so on. Customers can post comments, share their opinions, participate in online activities and stay connected to the brand always.

Gamification

Gamification is an integral component of the iLoyal Customer Engagement suite, and enables brands to devise and implement methods to garner the attention of customers and sustain the same through online challenges and games, for which customers can earn rewards like points, badges, gift cards or gain a position on the leaderboards. This not just keeps alive the online presence of the brand, but also creates a heightened sense of achievement in the customer, that they become brand advocates for you.
