IBS Software Wins APAC 'Testing Project of the Year Award 2015'

Singapore, November 02, 2015: IBS has won the prestigious 'Testing Project of the Year 2015' award at the "APAC Testing Awards 2015" event held in Singapore. This award is given to the most outstanding testing project across all industry sectors by any company in Asia Pacific (APAC) region. IBS received the award for providing Software Testing Services for development and implementation of Orbitz for Business' corporate travel platform for one of the world's largest technology corporates. The APAC Testing Awards recognize those organisations and practioners that have stepped away from legacy tools and processes to create Testing programs that define the future of IT software development, services and support. This project from IBS was selected for the award from entries from a number of leading companies in the Asia Pacific region. The eminent jury comprised of CIO's and celebrated thought leaders. The selection for awards was moderated and audited by KPMG.

Rolling out an online corporate travel program for a large global company is a complex and challenging project. It required connectivity to several GDS's including Sabre, Amadeus, Worldspan, Galileo, Travelfusion, Abacus and multiple offline agency systems. It had to cater to the globally diverse corporate travel needs for over 100 countries with different languages, currencies, country specific regulations and policies as well as integration with a number of 3rd party systems. This necessitated adopting test strategies for a continuous integration, security, data, accessibility, PNR synchronization, mobile testing and country roll out readiness. In addition to the global rollout, the project also involved supporting existing business comprising of over 700 clients demanding business continuity. Orbitz for Business is the corporate travel business of Orbitz Worldwide, the leading global online travel company.

Alex Kaluzny, GVP Orbitz Technology says, "Orbitz Worldwide and IBS have enjoyed a successful relationship for 10 years, during which time IBS has continued to demonstrate its team's professionalism, responsiveness and commitment to deliver. The rollout of a corporate travel program for clients with a global footprint is both complex and challenging, with very stringent timelines. We are very pleased that the IBS team has ensured the end product met strict criteria set by us and our client, and this award is a formal recognition of what we have always known about IBS's ability to successfully deliver mission critical systems. We congratulate the IBS team and wish them every success in the future."

More than 80 global companies in the Travel, Transportation & Logistics industry benefit from IBS' Independent Testing Services. IBS' domain expertise, testing excellence and use of existing vast repository of test cases, testing frameworks and state of the art smart tools translate into significant time and cost savings for its customers.

"I am very pleased that the industry recognized innovative and out of box thinking of our team in fulfilling all round testing needs of this large and complex project. This project is executed in Ownership Model and it follows Continuous Delivery Methodology, which means everyone in the team contributes to the final quality outcome. Coming soon after our success at India Testing Awards for another testing project for an industry-leading airline, this greater recognition is even more gratifying and will inspire our team to take on bigger challenges and to strive for creating greater value for our customers. I feel very proud to be a part of this winning team" said Akshay Shrivastava, Senior Vice President & Global Head of IBS' Services Business.
